After a hard struggle to kill the hoodoo that has been chasing them to a frazzle during the past week, the Beavers managed to down the thing yesterday afternoon for a sufficient length of time to win one more game from the Tail Ends, thus making two out of the seven played in the series. (This victory was an awful surprise to the fans and the Vernon players for it was not only a complete reversal of form, but in changing their system the Beavers played an errorless game and kept all but two of the Vernons from reaching third base. Garrett, who was trimmed so easily on Friday and had to be taken out of the box in the middle of the fourth inning, was the cause of the shock.

The morning game was another one of "them things," with seventeen hits and a home run, twelve tallies, seven errors and two hours of wrangling and sweating by the players, for the Vernon ground stand is a screaming board that repeats to you everything that is said on the ball ground.

The starting feature of the day consisted of a great one-handed running catch by Martinez in center field as the second inning, a home run by Brasher and a near home run by Grancy in the first game. The ball in both cases was hit to the top board of the left fence, the ball being a wire above the fence and bouncing back into the ball yard, while Brasher's ball rolled along the fence for six or eight inches and then jumped over the wire and outside of the fence. Martinez ran at top speed, and in the center field territory to grab in his outstretched left hand a line that Conney hit to the seventh inning, and the fans had to pinch themselves to see if they could realize that the ball had been caught.

The morning struggle at the Vernon grounds was the usual stonewall, full of errors, hard swats, wrangling and loud roars of the umpire, and finally came to an end after the third inning, for in the second and third Vernon made four runs which were enough to win with, as Portland got but three. Carson was the trouble with the Beavers, for, although the Vernons made but three runs off him, he scored four runs which were helped along by three passes and an error. Carson was out after the third inning and Chenault, who took his place, did not have any better luck, for he was out at times and was given indifferent support.

Things began to break back for Carson in the second when with one out, Devereaux batted, the ball in front of the plate and reached first safely when Ort dropped Fisher's throw. Bill easily made third on McGraw's double, and was forced in with a run when Carson walked both Brown and Schaffer. Most reached third on Schaffer's pass and kept the fielder's choice throw to the plate when stonewall grounded to Olson. Brown got a third on a single scored when Coy forced Morgan at second.

The third game, Brasher's home run, and then Carson's lights went out. The Beavers got their first run in the fourth on Ort's single to left, Guy's pass and Chenault's drive to right, and the final two came from five singles in the eighth. Olson singled and ran to second on Grancy's hit to center. Fisher shot one to center and when Olson tried to score on this he was caught between third base and the plate. Then Ort Johnson singled to left fence, scoring Grancy and Fisher. Ort fanned, Guy hit to left and Guy was an infield out.

Vernon began on Chenault in the fourth with one run, resulting from Brown's single and Schaffer's out and Coy's slam to center. In the sixth three more runs arrived on two scratch singles, two passed to right, and a near fielder's choice. The last one in the eighth was due to Stovall's single, Olson's error of Grancy's throw from center, and Grancy's maul of Coy to center.

The afternoon contest was a pretty pitching stunt by Garrett, who held the Vernons to four singles and shut them out. Brackenridge was not so lucky, for he started the third by hitting Fisher. Johnson followed with a single, and Ort walked. Speas fanned, but McCredie doubled to left, and scored Fisher and Johnson. In the sixth, singles by Johnson and Ort and Hogan's wild throw to third scored Johnson, while singles by Grancy and McCredie, the wild throw to second and Garrett's sacrifice scored a run in the seventh.

ONE OF SEVEN.KOESTNER SHUTS OUT OAKLAND IN TWO-HIT GAME.Tennessee Manages to Defeat Los Angeles Sunday Afternoon, Owing to Wildness of Toss—All Three Runs Scored at the Matinee Show
Were Started by Passes.[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Dillon, an Angels pitcher, possibly aroused by the arrival of the leader from the south, got out of his slump sufficiently in the first inning to take the Freeman's Park game by a 2-to-0 score, but they promptly slumped back in the afternoon, and the best they could do on the day was to break even, which gives the Oaks a clear lead of six of the seven games that have been played so far. Koestner was the hero who stopped the rush of the Oaks before the home crowd of the Commuters, the dark-faced lad holding the Oaks to no runs and but two hits. (His team backed him up well in the matter of hits, and thus gathered in two tallies in the afternoon. Toss faced Tennessee and, although the Oaks were outhit, the wildness of Toss at critical moments proved extremely costly.

The starting feature of the day consisted of a great one-handed running catch by Martinez in center field as the second inning, a home run by Brasher and a near home run by Grancy in the first game. The ball in both cases was hit to the top board of the left fence, the ball being a wire above the fence and bouncing back into the ball yard, while Brasher's ball rolled along the fence for six or eight inches and then jumped over the wire and outside of the fence. Martinez ran at top speed, and in the center field territory to grab in his outstretched left hand a line that Conney hit to the seventh inning, and the fans had to pinch themselves to see if they could realize that the ball had been caught.

The morning struggle at the Vernon grounds was the usual stonewall, full of errors, hard swats, wrangling and loud roars of the umpire, and finally came to an end after the third inning, for in the second and third Vernon made four runs which were enough to win with, as Portland got but three. Carson was the trouble with the Beavers, for, although the Vernons made but three runs off him, he scored four runs which were helped along by three passes and an error. Carson was out after the third inning and Chenault, who took his place, did not have any better luck, for he was out at times and was given indifferent support.

Things began to break back for Carson in the second when with one out, Devereaux batted, the ball in front of the plate and reached first safely when Ort dropped Fisher's throw. Bill easily made third on McGraw's double, and was forced in with a run when Carson walked both Brown and Schaffer. Most reached third on Schaffer's pass and kept the fielder's choice throw to the plate when stonewall grounded to Olson. Brown got a third on a single scored when Coy forced Morgan at second.

The third game, Brasher's home run, and then Carson's lights went out. The Beavers got their first run in the fourth on Ort's single to left, Guy's pass and Chenault's drive to right, and the final two came from five singles in the eighth. Olson singled and ran to second on Grancy's hit to center. Fisher shot one to center and when Olson tried to score on this he was caught between third base and the plate. Then Ort Johnson singled to left fence, scoring Grancy and Fisher. Ort fanned, Guy hit to left and Guy was an infield out.

Vernon began on Chenault in the fourth with one run, resulting from Brown's single and Schaffer's out and Coy's slam to center. In the sixth three more runs arrived on two scratch singles, two passed to right, and a near fielder's choice. The last one in the eighth was due to Stovall's single, Olson's error of Grancy's throw from center, and Grancy's maul of Coy to center.

The afternoon contest was a pretty pitching stunt by Garrett, who held the Vernons to four singles and shut them out. Brackenridge was not so lucky, for he started the third by hitting Fisher. Johnson followed with a single, and Ort walked. Speas fanned, but McCredie doubled to left, and scored Fisher and Johnson. In the sixth, singles by Johnson and Ort and Hogan's wild throw to third scored Johnson, while singles by Grancy and McCredie, the wild throw to second and Garrett's sacrifice scored a run in the seventh.

At a meeting of the National Education Association in Minneapolis, Dr. Carter, president of the East-Columbia University in New York City, addressed an audience of eight thousand teachers. He said the Bible should be restored to its place in the public schools, and gave his reasons, part of which I quote: "My thesis is that the neglect of the Bible, caused by receding time has brought down the rising generation from knowing the beauties of the greatest writings in the English language from Chaucer to Browning, and from understanding as well as placing them outside the pale of knowledge of their own citizenship."

And existence in the schools is the idea of individual responsibility to Almighty God for all human action.' Again he said: 'There has been much discussion about the use of the Bible in the public schools, and I think those who have profited against it have never read the Bible through. We have in our schools the children of unfit parents, of immoral parents, of criminals. Now, if these children are to get a true life, if they are to make up a true life, a righteous life, they get it nowhere. It is important that in such cases the teacher should step in and be not only school teacher, but father and mother to the child.'

N. E. CORNER BROADWAY AND NINTH

The new purchasers, The Times-Mirror Company, contemplate the early erection of a handsome one-story building on the premises, the Broadway front to be leased for stores or other business uses, and the remainder, about 65x77 feet, to be arranged for some special purpose. The owners offer to build to suit the particular requirements of long-term tenants, and may be communicated with by prospective lessees.

Students at some brand of theosophical lectures given at a hall in Mercantile Place yesterday, after listening to a lecture, they were convinced that they were two Indian princesses, reincarnated. But the homage currently supposed to be due the royal blood in far India was not materializing very perceptibly in Los Angeles.

The unfortunate sisters were aggrieved by the slight and began a demonstration that soon had all the neighborhood “sitting up and taking notice.” A violent demonstration, that a distress call was sent to Police Headquarters, and the sisters were taken to the detention house.

Complaints for insanity were issued in each case, while the sisters threatened bodily violence to all who came near them and disputed their claims to the blood royal. They were locked up in the female ward of the City Jail.

INSULTS A WOMAN.

Messenger Boys Try to Rescue Comrade Placed Under Arrest and Policemen Fight.

A. Britt, a messenger boy, was landed in the City Jail last night by Patrolman Gifford, after a fierce fight with a number of other messengers, who sought to take the prisoner from the officer. Britt, it is alleged, was on a street car and insulted a woman, aggravating his offense by seizing her by the arm when she resented his address.

Gifford, seeing the commotion on the car, boarded the conveyance and took Britt off. As the officer marched to the station from the corner of Seventh and Main, where he made the arrest, he was set upon by a half dozen other messenger boys and had to use his baton freely to his prisoner.

He arrested several of the young men and brought them to the station, but was unable to identify them as the assailants and had to let them go.

FIGHTS SAMARITANS.

Man Injured by Fall Bites With Police Officer Who Tries to Aid Him.

William Hyde, a horse trainer of East Hollywood, painted the inside of the police patrol wagon red with his blood last evening when, after having been injured by a fall, he tried to wipe Wagon Officer Sweeney off the face of the earth.

Hyde was driving a sulky and fell out at Sunset boulevard and Bond street. A hurry call sent the patrol wagon dashing to the spot, where Hyde was found with a badly cut head and other injuries. He was tenderly loaded into the wagon and on the way to the hospital Officer Sweeney tried to learn something of the man's hurt.

Suddenly the apparently inanimate victim attacked the driver and there was a sanguinary battle as the wagon sped along. Hyde was finally subdued and handcuffed.

At the Receiving Hospital it was found necessary to stitch a long cut in Hyde's scalp. At the first touch of the needle, he tried to fight some more. But the surgeon and others were too strong for him and he was vanquished once more. Then he went to sleep.

KEEP BROADHEAD BUSY.

Citizens Plan to Give Demonstration Tonight—Police Commission to Take Up His Case.

Capt. Thomas H. Broadhead's acquittal of the charges of graft against him were still the topic of conversation in police circles last night.

All night long the captain was kept busy answering telephone calls from persons who wished to congratulate him on his exoneration by a jury.

There were several automobiles in the street in front of his home until late in the small hours of yesterday morning. Last night it was late before the captain was allowed to go to bed, callers and the telephone keeping him up.

It has been arranged by a number of prominent citizens to give the captain a reception at his home tonight, and the indications are that the affair will be something of a demonstration.

This case is to be considered by the Police Commission tomorrow night.
